JUDGING

After entries are submitted, a panel of jurors will begin a thorough process that includes pre-scoring to select a top 10, subsequent deliberation, and the ultimate decisions of each winner and honorable mention.

Jurors include senior PR professionals from agency, corporate, nonprofit, and government teams, as well as service company and PR education professionals. In addition, the judging panel will also include in-house marketing leaders. Jurors will be chosen because of their professional and wide-ranging level of expertise.

This year, all campaign and technique categories will be conducted as a “blind” judging where nominating organizations’ names are withheld from the jurors. When submitting your written entry and supporting documents, you are asked to remove references to the organization being nominated. We recommend replacing any mention of your organization with ‘Agency’ or ‘Company’.

Any juror who has a potential conflict of interest, including, but not restricted to, working for an agency that submitted that campaign and/or being involved with any aspect of the project, will not be allowed to judge that entry.

Jurors may move entries between categories if deemed to be unsuitable for the category entered, but appropriate for another. Category changes will be made solely at the discretion of the jurors and their decisions will be final.

All jurors will be required to sign a confidentiality agreement that bans them from disclosing information from entry submissions. A maximum of five entries from each category will make up our shortlist of finalists, which will be published online in December 2017 and in print in January 2018. Jurors do not discuss their individual scores with anyone – not even each other. As such, the winners are not known until Awards night itself.
ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

1 The PRWeek Awards are open to corporate communications and marketing communications teams, PR agencies, public affairs firms, IR agencies, publicists, nonprofits, PR educational professionals, and government PR teams, as well as solo practitioners. FAQ

What if my submission has confidential information?
There is a section on the entry form that is dedicated to any confidential information. This information will only be seen by our jurors.

What is the eligibility period for the entries?
Entries must be for work conducted between October 2, 2016 and October 2, 2017, unless otherwise specified. Some of the work must have occurred during this time, but it does not necessarily need to have been started or completed during the eligibility period.

What is the cost to enter into the PRWeek Awards?
The price of each primary entry submitted is $420. You may choose to submit that same exact entry into a second or third category (which only applies to the Campaign and Technique Awards) for an additional fee of $260 per submission. For example, if you submit any one entry into three categories, the fee would be: $420 + $260 + $260 = $940. The entry fee for Business Awards - In-house and Business Awards - Agency is $460. The entry fee for the Education Awards is $159.

What is the deadline to submit?
The entry deadline is Monday, October 2, 2017, 6pm EST. Late entries will be received until Tuesday, October 10, 2017, 6pm EST. However, those entries received after Monday, October 2 will incur a late fee of $260 per entry.

Do I need to submit a video as support material?
Video support material is greatly encouraged. For further details please refer to the support material section of this entry kit.

How is my entry judged?
Judging for all categories occurs in two phases, online and live day. Online, jurors are asked to pick the top 10 entries in each category. On judging day, entries are scored live by a team of jurors. The scoring is on a 100-point scale, with each of the relevant criteria worth 20 points. This generates the finalists in each category.

What are the jurors looking for?
• Focus on results that matter. Bottom-line impact and measurable business results. Notable changes to stakeholder behavior. Operational outcomes that move the needle. Jurors are not impressed solely by media impressions, Facebook likes, and Twitter followers.

• Be brief. PRWeek Awards jurors appreciate succinct language because they review numerous entries. Furthermore, our arbiters can easily recognize hyperbole that often masks a sub-standard entry.

• Detail on dollars. Our jurors hold senior-level posts in the industry, so they understand the desire to not reveal certain specifics. However, don’t allow your budgets to be among those hidden factors. Such details allow entities and campaigns of varying sizes to be compared effectively. Your budget underscores the conditions under which a campaign was executed. And with Agency categories, the more detail shared about annual revenues, the better. And remember: Respect of confidentiality is paramount to both PRWeek and our jurors.

Can I change my written entry and or support material after I’ve submitted and paid?
No. Unfortunately you will not be allowed access to your entry once it has been submitted and paid for.

Can I remove an entry after it has been submitted and paid for?
No. If you have an issue please contact:
